Dear Hiring Manager

I'm writing to inquire about the opening for the Software Developer position at DigiFlight. As a graduating senior in Computer Science with a concentration in Cyber Security, I bring hands-on experience in software design, debugging, and application development from my internship at FedEx, where I developed a solution projected to save $1 million annually. My resume also highlights my AI research project, where I applied machine learning to analyze rowing techniques, showcasing my ability to solve complex problems with innovative solutions.

I'd welcome the opportunity to discuss how my skills and experiences align with the requirements of this role and contribute to DigiFlight's mission of delivering cutting-edge solutions.

Thank you,
Samuel Zit
